

What you could do on your summer vacation:
The joys of Summer School

From the Chair...

Deirdre MacCuish Bark

Spring was certainly evident for our March Beginners' Dance. It was an energetic night for 161 dancers on the floor including 34 beginners from various classes, with spring in their step. Thanks go to the teachers who have worked hard with those dancers and to Forbes and his committee, responsible for the smooth running of the event.

The dances originally collected by the Society were traditional country dances historically danced in Scotland. After WW2 with Book 13 (The Victory Book), recently devised dances were added, The Reel of the 51st Division (also called The St Valery Reel) being the first of these.

Many of the traditional dances reflect an event or person in Scottish history. In particular, April brings us to the Jacobite rebellions in Scotland. The battle of Culloden was fought in 1746 between the supporters of the Stewart kings and the Government forces. It was the last battle fought on British soil.

The Jacobite emblem, a rosette of white ribbons worn as a cap badge, was celebrated in a song by Robert Burns and in a reel, The White Cockade, by one of the many dancing masters in the 18th and 19th centuries. The Duke is Welcome to Inverness refers to the Duke of Cumberland. Welcome, one wonders, to whom — he's also known locally as Butcher Cumberland. Memories are long in the Highlands. The Gaelic Society of Inverness leads a Gaelic service of Remembrance every April at the Culloden Memorial cairn. Other historically inspired dances include The Wild Geese (Irish mercenaries who fought for the Jacobites) and Lochiel's Rant (Donald Cameron of Lochiel).

Many of these old dances still appear regularly on our programmes.

Join us at the Volunteer Dance on April 9, where the Toronto Association shows appreciation to those who keep the association running in a healthy condition. Volunteers make up about 45% of our membership. Director Wayne Fraser, with his committee, plan a lively evening.

Slàinte.

Deirdre

WE ARE SPOILED FOR CHOICE WHEN IT COMES TO SUMMER SCHOOL: Two world-class events are immediately available for summer vacation planning. Both are based at a university and you stay in student dorms. Usually, mornings are for intense training and afternoons are for optional classes in exotica such as Highland dance, Ladies' Step, or formations workshops. Or... you can just enjoy the neighbourhood. Often, optional day trips to points of interest are laid on. After the evening dances, musicians usually get together in for wonderful jam sessions in common rooms and good-natured socialising prevails. Summer schools are excellent vacation value considering you get instruction, fellowship, food, and accommodation. Plus, you'll make friends from all over.

TAC Summer School: One week, July 31 - Aug 7

The Teachers' Association (Canada) mounts a one-week school every summer, at locations that flit about the continent. This year, TAC is relatively close, at Bishop's University in the beautiful Eastern Townships of Québec. There are classes suitable for all levels of experience (including beginners). TAC always provides world class talent. Teachers: Mary Murray (BC), Bill Williamson (Scotland), Fred DeMarse (CA), Janet Walker (PA). Musicians: Kathy Fraser-Collins, Ian Muir, Laird Brown, Don Wood, Judi Nicolson, Fred Collins. Prepare to be amused, amazed, and delighted at Ceilidh Night.

St Andrews Summer School: 4 Optional weeks, July 17 - Aug 14

This is a bucket list event for Scottish country dancers. The best SCD teachers and musicians in the world assemble and dancers have a brilliant time in a glorious seaside town, and perhaps frequent pubs well-known to Prince William and Kate.

Most folk opt for one of the four weeks, but some go for two. Each week has different teachers and musicians from Scotland and abroad. It's quite an international congregation and celebration of Scottish dance. Don't be surprised if someone says, "Oh, you're from Toronto... do you know so-and-so?" Chances are, you do. You will certainly know some of the teachers because they've been to Canada for workshops. A week at St Andrews confirms your affiliation to a world-wide community of Scottish country dancers.

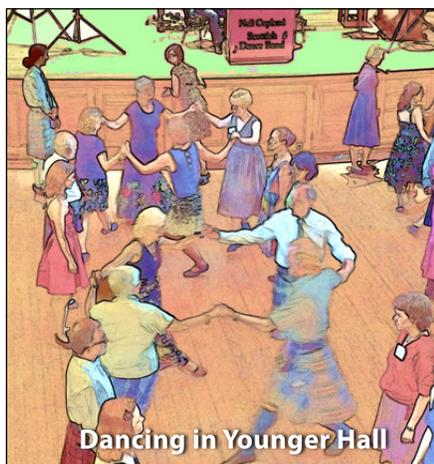

There are classes suitable for all levels of experience but it's best to have prior beginner classes at home so you can participate fully in the evening dances in legendary Younger Hall.

Volunteer Appreciation Dance

Saturday, April 9

Dear Member,
The April Volunteer Appreciation Dance is again free to all the volunteers who gave so generously to the association this past year. This includes any program or event under the auspices of the association but does not include volunteering exclusive to a social groups.

There will be two sign-in sheets at the desk. Volunteers simply sign the Volunteer Form. If you wish to donate some or all of the regular fee, feel free to do so. Member volunteers have asked that this option be made clear. Non-volunteer dancers will sign in as usual.

The Volunteer Awards for 2016 will be presented at the break, and we will announce the winner of the Devisor Programme for the 2017 Appreciation Dance.

Please join us in celebrating the volunteers who contributed hours and hours of time and service over the year. Volunteers are the life blood of the organization. We could not do as much as we do without their help, commitment, and generosity.

Thanks and Cheers,

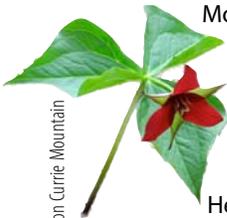

Wayne Fraser, Director Membership and Volunteers

What's in a Name?

If you were able to attend our March Monthly Dance, did you have the chance to sample that very nice and smooth flowing reel called Currie Mountain? It was devised quite a while ago by Mary Pugh, a Fredericton dancer, and was one of her submissions to the New Brunswick Collection. This bicentennial collection of reels, jigs, and strathspeys was created to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the province's founding in 1784.

While you may never have heard of such a place as Currie Mountain, it looms over the city of Fredericton, in a manner of speaking, and originated as a volcano eons ago. Any likelihood of an imminent eruption? Hardly! In fact, if they were to think about any form of local catastrophe, the citizens of Fredericton would be far more likely in the short term to be inundated by flooding from the Saint John River (Yes! That Saint John River!) which flows through the city and actually runs quite close to the base of this mountain.

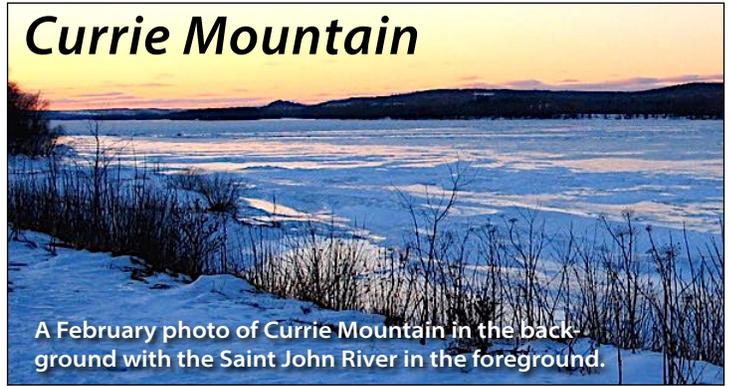

A red trillium on Currie Mountain

Truth be known, even though the volcanic origin of Currie Mountain and its environs goes back around 100 million years, there still exists visible evidence of what were once flowing lava beds which in turn have been responsible for the growth of any number of quite rare plants, found nowhere else in the area.

Here is another anomaly! Currie Mountain has a height of about 87 metres, and for those of us metrically challenged folks who are several decades away from school learning, 87 metres tops out at say, a little under 300 feet. But there again, as I am sure that you will agree, to give this non-alpine eminence the appellation Currie Hill does not have quite the same cachet.

Currie Mountain

Mentioning rare plants, could that mean plants like cumin or coriander? Well no, as tropical plants, they refer to curry (the food dish). Currie (the mountain) is named for one of the original owners who bequeathed this piece of property to the University of New Brunswick at least 50 years ago. But let's not forget that in itself, Currie is a well established Scots name, which stems from the Gaelic MacMhuirich, which perhaps gives this whole review a little extra panache.

I had the pleasure of chatting with Mary Pugh by phone recently in which she not only provided me with helpful information about Currie Mountain, but told me about her dancing opportunities in Boston, an SCD Branch that I believe has an equivalent annual event to our Tartan Ball, and attracts numerous Canadian dancers from the Maritime Provinces. It turns out that Mary had also had the opportunity to visit Toronto for a Tartan Ball some years ago.

In closing, I would like to thank not only Mary Pugh for her support of this submission, but also Connie Moore, who was my initial contact at RSCDS Fredericton and enabled me to reach Mary.

Forbes Duncan

WE HAD 34 BEGINNER DANCERS at the March Monthly Dance, identified by ribbons that they wore, and that scared look in the eyes you get when attending your first dance. I am pleased to report that they handled the pressure well and by all appearances had a great evening of dance. Thank you to all the Association and Social Group teachers for their hard work preparing them for the evening.

I would like to remind everyone again that outdoor shoes are not allowed in the gymnasium; you must wear dance shoes. We don't want to lose this facility.

The next dance, the Volunteer Appreciation Dance, will be held on April 9 at Crescent School, starting at 7:30 p.m. Hope to see many of you there for another fun evening of dance. ...Forbes Duncan

Toronto Association Classes ~ Winter/Spring Session ~

Thursday Evenings, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.
Eastminster United Church, 310 Danforth Avenue, Toronto

April 7 - May 26

- EXTENSION CLASSES (8 classes) - Teaching is shared among teachers of Basic and Intermediate Classes (upstairs in the auditorium)

April 14 - May 12

- ADVANCED, LEVEL 3 (5 classes) - Teacher, Keith Bark (downstairs in the Hurndale Room)

More details: www.DanceScottish.ca

Extension Classes are offered over 8 weeks in the spring, as a bridge between the end of regular classes and the beginning of the 4 weeks of Dancing in the Park. The classes extend the learning experience, as dancers review the steps and formations previously taught and are introduced to new ones. Dances are reviewed and new ones taught, some of which may be on the programmes for Dancing in the Park or the West Toronto Ball.

Level 3 - Advanced Classes, conducted over 5 weeks in late spring, continue to build on the skill base of the dancers. New formations and dances of more complexity in their combination of patterns are introduced to challenge the more experienced dancer. Come join us and share the wonderful experience of Scottish country dance! We look forward to seeing you on the dance floor.

During the March break, four Toronto dancers enjoyed a few days together in Montreal, including a celebration of significant birthdays. Naturally, we took our Toronto dance shirts with us!

We were given a very warm welcome by the Montreal Branch's Wednesday night dancers, especially by Dagmar Koeppler (beside Glenna), their leader that evening as teacher Holly Boyd was away. Not only did Dagmar provide door-to-door limousine service, she baked a cake and cookies for tea break and led us all through a varied and challenging dance programme. One of us, who had not intended to dance because of foot problems, happily danced all evening.

Our holiday was off to a warm and comfortable beginning. Like all eager tourists, we walked, gawked, admired, wondered at, reminisced, savoured, and even shopped! We came away with tired feet, great experiences, new friends, lots of laughs, great memories and the warm glow of deep friendships shared and new friendships thanks to Scottish country dance.

Une vacance formidable!

Automated External Defibrillator = Heart Rescue

If you see someone collapse suddenly...what should you do?

Many venues now have AEDs, a portable medical device that delivers an electrical shock to restart a person's heart. Most of us have some fear of using them, even in an emergency. Your Board (and fellow dancers) want you to know what to do in an emergency. Under Ontario law, the Chase McEachern Act (Heart Defibrillator Civil Liability) 2007, you will not be liable for damages resulting from attempting to help someone (unless your actions are for profit or you are grossly negligent).

TYPICAL AED

The Three Easy Steps of the Procedure:

Call 911 Have them send help. Stay on line and listen for further instructions.

Start Chest Compressions If the person is not breathing normally, start chest compressions. Push down hard and fast in the centre of the chest. Keep your arms straight. Send someone to find an AED.

Use the AED The Automated External Defibrillator provides voice prompts that tell you exactly what to do and it will only administer a shock if needed, so there's no reason to hesitate

This brief interactive video shows proper procedure, including the use of an AED: www.heartrescuenu.com

Dear Editor...

Re: Reel of the 51st

I sent your newsletter [March Set & Link] to one of the officers who wrote the Kandahar Reel. I vaguely remembered a family connection with one of the devisors of the Reel of the 51st and thought it was my contact. I have asked him to pass on your article if he has the contact details of that officer.

He has just replied to me - this is what he had to say:

Dear Pia,

Thank you so much for your email, it is good to hear from you. It was actually one of the other officers serving with us in the Black Watch who was related to one of the 51st devisors. I enjoyed reading the story though. Maybe in 50 years a young dancer's eyes will light up when they meet an old man who once wrote a ridiculous reel!
